

Message to our families

Dear Broadway Arts Centre Families,

Over the past nine years the studio has enriched my life with new adventures, joy and lasting memories. I was able to take my life long passion for the performing arts and turn it into a wonderful career. Witnessing a child's first class, getting the nerve to perform on stage or watching a quiet person become confident and brave were some of my favourite and proudest moments. Being a small part in your child's life journey has meant more to me than I could have imagined. BAC has been my second home and my students will always hold a large part of my heart. Thank you for trusting me with your children, it has been my honour and privilege.

As you can imagine, the past few months have been extremely challenging as a small business owner and now I feel the time has come for me to hand the reins of studio owner to a new leader. I am extremely proud to announce that one of my first teachers and treasured faculty member Jamee Valin has bought Broadway Arts Centre. She has proven herself to be an amazing teacher and leader and I am confident she will be successful in this role. Jamee and I are both very happy in this decision and I know you will give her the trust and respect that I have received over the past nine years. Jamee is extremely talented, energetic, passionate and ready to take the studio to exciting new heights. Please join me in congratulating her and celebrate this exciting new chapter in the BAC journey.

Thank you for your endless support throughout the years, I am forever grateful.
Miss Meaghan

Hi everyone, Jamee here! I am very excited to continue this performing arts journey within the Roncesvalles community, especially at 35 Golden Ave. Did you know I was one of the very first people to ever walk through Broadway Arts Centre way back in 2011? Fast forward 9 years and I know I will make Meaghan proud as I elevate her business with the same values and spirit she has modelled year after year.

My mind is always thinking of ways to improve the studio and I really can't believe now is the time I get to put my ideas and intentions into action. I am consulting with Meaghan on a day-to-day basis to guarantee all your previous conversations and histories are accounted for as we move forward. I will do my very best to balance your immediate needs regarding this current pandemic with important long term goals, which I see your children achieving with my team's professional direction and guidance.

I aim to be responsive, caring and clear, especially when developing relationships within the arts. In case we haven't met; I plan to share my honest and hardworking nature with you as soon as can be. The students would probably add that you will learn about my passion (read intensity), creativity and silliness all on day one! Teaching has been the topic of nearly all my conversations for the last ten years....just ask any of my closest friends / family. My work is my life and I take immense responsibility in my role as a team member and mentor. I lead by example, setting high standards and strong personal expectations with realistic and nurturing attitudes. I believe taking care of oneself and one's community or surroundings is important at every age and I will do everything I can to make sure your children are thriving just as my teachers did for me. I grew up in a studio and I am who I am because I've danced, in some capacity, nearly every day of my life. Starting classes Monday September 14, 2020 as 'The Railpath Arts Centre' (TRAC, "Track", for short) is a life changing and exhilarating step!
